

FitzVogt appoints John DiPietro to Vice President of Operations

Walpole, NH - John DiPietro has been promoted to the position of Vice President of Operations for FitzVogt, the largest food service provider in the northeast.

DiPietro began his career at FitzVogt in 1999 as the food service director for The Landmark, a senior residence in Fall River, Massachusetts. He later helped launch the food service at Aquidneck Place in Portsmouth, Rhode Island and was subsequently promoted to area manager, district manager, and most recently, regional director of operations.

In his new role as Vice President of Operations, DiPietro will oversee the management of 110 accounts and direct new business acquisition in the New England and mid-Atlantic regions, an area running from Maine to Maryland and as far west as Indiana.

Prior to his 12 years with FitzVogt, DiPietro operated Sunset Catering Services in Waterville Valley, New Hampshire. He lives in Rhode Island with his wife Amy and their two sons, Jackson and Nicholas.

DiPietro's philosophy of food service is customer-driven, he says. "We recently reorganized the operations and training teams so as to redirect resources to benefit customers more directly," said DiPietro. "This includes increased training and an expansion of the operations team as a way of increasing efficiency."

"It is a privilege to share in the leadership of a team that has been providing excellent service for over 35 years," DiPietro added.

FitzVogt has been honored as one of the top 50 food management companies in the country. It provides food service to senior residences, schools, corporations, and other clients throughout the Northeast and mid-Atlantic. FitzVogt is committed to nutritious food, customized services, and sustainable practices such as support for local agriculture.
